E-Learning Library

The Parents Helping Parents E-Learning Library offers critical information for families... anytime, anywhere.

The PHP E-Learning Library includes videos, podcasts, and e-packets on a wide variety of topics to help families caring for a loved one with special needs. We assembled them in one place to make it easier for you to find the resource you need, now. They cover topics like special education basics, how to request an assessment from your school district, IEP meeting preparation, and assistive technology. We also have videos on public benefits like SSI, IHSS, and more.

With the Parents Helping Parents E-Learning Library, you can gain knowledge of the complex educational, legal, social service, and medical systems of care for your loved one of any age, any ability.

The videos and podcasts are sorted into categories, to make it even easier for you to find what you need, now. Included is a group of curated videos and podcasts produced by other agencies and private parties. We have previewed them all and believe each offers excellent, accurate information on a wide variety of topics.

In addition to informational videos, we offer valuable written information in our E-Packet Information Library. Using the link you can download important information prepared by PHP staff on many special interest topics. All PHP e-packets are up-to-date, and we are continually adding new ones. To download an E-Packet, all you need to do is fill out a quick form, and your chosen e-packets will be emailed right to you.

Our E-Learning Library is always growing! Check back often for new categories and new content!
