

Mobility Training

The Mobility Training Program

North Orange Continuing Education (NOCE), Disability Support Services (DSS) offers roundtrip bus training between home, work and/or school. The program receives funding from the Job Access Reverse Commute (JARC) grant through the Orange County Transportation Authority (OCTA).

One-On-One Mobility Training

- A mobility trainer will:
- plan a personal bus route to and from work, school and/or home.
 - teach the requested bus route through one-on-one instruction.
 - provide instruction in reading the bus book.
 - provide support in learning to interact safely in the community.

Phases of Training

Phase I: Side-by-Side Training

- A mobility trainer creates a personalized bus route and trains the student through side-by-side instruction on various scheduled appointments. The student is tested and evaluated to determine their current level of safety procedures while taking the city bus.

Phase II: Shadowing

- The mobility trainer sits in the back of the bus and observes the student from afar noting how they follow safety rules, pull the cord on landmarks, and utilize their learned route.

Phase III: Follow Bus

- The mobility trainer arranges and observes student applying their route at the exact designated times and locations previously observed/practiced from a separate car that follows the bus.

Mobility Bootcamp

Mobility bootcamp course is offered through NOCE's DSS in the summer and winter Terms. This course teaches students how to access their community through OCTA. Students learn:

- Route Preparation
Students learn how to plan a bus route, identify timely routes, create physical landmarks in recognizing bus stop locations, as well as basic knowledge in reading a bus book.
- Safety in the Community
Students learn personal etiquette, how to be safe in their community, and what to do in case of an emergency.
- Employment Options
Students are introduced to various employment options through tours and visiting different places of employment.
- Community Resources
Students become familiar with their community.
