The Vocational Fit Assessment is a free, valid, and reliable age-appropriate transition assessment created for individuals with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities that focuses on employment skills. VocFit is based in U.S. Department of Labor Data (O*NET) and has been tested extensively in the Project SEARCH model internationally. The assessment takes about 15 minutes to complete and can provide four different reports

1. Student/Intern/Worker Report
2. Measurable Skills Change report
3. Rater Agreement Report
4. Job Matching Report

Data Visualization is used to help the individual with a disability, their family, and employment team members see where their current employment skills are so they can find how suited they are for jobs they are interested in and provides data to help them develop an employment plan. VocFit has been used to assess thousands of individuals and jobs.
